

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

The efficiency and reliability of our transport system affect every walk of life. To maintain the sustainable development of Hong Kong and to meet the transport needs of the community, upkeeping a safe, efficient and reliable transport system has always been the prime objective of the Transport Advisory Committee.

In 2004/05, the Transport Advisory Committee was consulted on various major transport issues. Members offered advice to assist the Government in mapping out transport strategies that meet public needs. I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all my colleagues serving on the Transport Advisory Committee. Their dedication and support contribute to the smooth operation of the Committee. We will continue to tender impartial advice to the Administration to maintain and develop a transport system that meets the aspirations of the community and sharpens Hong Kong's edge as a transportation hub.
